DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-3, 8-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rajala (US 6,527,902) in view of Takayanagi et al. (US 3,784,187).

Rajala discloses an apparatus for making laminated pads comprising first cutting roll 304 for cutting fiber web 202; sealing roll 150; transfer cylinder 125 to convey fiber bodies to sealing; see figure 4. Rajala does not disclose an adjusting mechanism, however Takayanagi et al. disclose an adjusting mechanism (actuator 14, mounting system 13) for a vacuum cylinder 10; see figure 1. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to include the teachings of Takayanagi et al. in the invention to Rajala in order to vary the nip gap between cylinders to accommodate various webs.

Regarding claim 10, Rajala describes second cutting roller 1402 (figure 4a).

Regarding claim 12, the examiner takes OFFICIAL NOTICE that replacing a cylinder and adjusting the spacing between cylinders would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4-7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 9/22/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The second nip of Rajala would also be adjusted by adjusting the axis of the first vacuum transfer cylinder. Adjustment of the transfer cylinder axis (out of the plane with cutting and sealing cylinders) would provide a shorter distance than the diameter of the transfer cylinder.

In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, (ie. only one nip is being adjusted), one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

The incorporation of an adjusting mechanism in the invention to Rajala providing for adjusting the axis of rotation of a vacuum cylinder would provide for adjusting both first and second nips.

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992).

In this case, the only issue is adjustability. It has been held that the provision of adjustability, where needed, involves only routine skill in the art, In re Stevens, 101 USPQ 284 (CCPA 1954); (therefore in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art).

In response to applicant's argument that the adjustment of Rajala would disrupt the operation, the test for obviousness is not whether the features of a secondary reference may be bodily incorporated into the structure of the primary reference; nor is it that the claimed invention must be expressly suggested in any one or all of the references. Rather, the test is what the combined teachings of the references would have suggested to those of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981).

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
